In these troubling times of xenophobia and demonizing the Other, this timely workshop will increase our cultural awareness, help us to walk a moment in the other's shoes, and teach us ways to blur the lines of racism and love ALL God's children.

This workshop is free. Lunch and all-day refreshments will be served. Space is limited so registration is recommended.

Breakfast and Belief this Sunday, February 10th, 9:30 am with

Ron Starbuck

An Introduction to a new children's story from Saint Julian Press
A White Colt's Tale

Our family is a family of readers. Our love for reading began at a young age with stories told from the Bible. In our home and at church, we were taught and encouraged to engage our imaginations through Children's Bible stories.

We first learned of God's love and the diversity of creation through storytelling. We learned to see these stories as a way of renewal, redemption, reconciliation, forgiveness, salvation, spiritual insight and formation. They became for us a way of living, a way of being and transformation.

As an ageless and sacramental story, A White Colt's Tale, offers children and adults a hopeful message. One which is about the power of love to heal and transform the world through our friendships with one another, and the mystery and grace of God. The story of Jesus and Manuelo's friendship, is our story too. Their story acts as an invocation of the Holy Spirit; however, you may see the Spirit at work in your own life and friendships. It honors all the relationships and friendships that move through our lives.
